Message from President

Pyare Foundation is a multi dimensional group in the sector of human service and knowledge concern to represent and present skills, methods, procedure and approach that are primarily tailor made to fill the gaps of realignment/ delinquency. Being the caretaker of the organisation I am concerned about the people basic health and hygiene. During the year 2020 we have seen lot of miseries and distruction in the lives of nearones and dearones. I urge everyone to not to take this pandemic lightly and keep yourself and your relatives healthy in all the possible ways. I know work is also important to earn daily bread for the family but stay at home untill and unless it necessary to go out.

opportunity for children to showcase their innovative and creative ideas on a piece of paper using colours of hopefulness and innocence. Pyare foundation organized a painting and drawing competition for children belonging to the age group of 7 to 14 years on the theme- Corona VIRUS. The main aim of the competition was to spread awareness about the deadly pandemic and precautions required to fight against the disease. Dr. Anjali Thapliyal Kaul (President Pyare Foundation), Mr. Kumar Amlendu (Founder – Artcozy) and Mrs. Kanu Priya (Event Coordinator) were the judges of the competition. The participants were awarded with certificate of participation and the top three winners were rewarded with the certificate of appreciation.

The imposition of the lockdown due to the corona virus pandemic situation has deeply impacted the mental health of not only the working-class people but also of the children as well. Expression of art through paintings and drawings is a good way to distract ourselves from the daily news updates of deaths and rising covid cases. Pyare foundation provided an Asharam Nautiyal, Vedpathi – (Kedarnath Dham, Himalaya), Dr. Meenakshi Arjun (Center Manager – Kidzee) served as the esteemed judges for the competition. All participants were given participation certificates and top three winners bagged special award certificates.

The Gayatri Mantra is a universal prayer. It is believed in the Hindu culture that chanting the Gayatri mantra induces certain vibrations of the sound produced while reciting the carefully designed words of the mantra. It is believed that these vibrations help sharpen the intellect and brightens one's memory. Chanting of this mantra Pyare foundation successfully organized a singing competition in regional language. The idea was to promote the diminishing importance of the regional languages in India. The registration of the competition was free from charges and the age limit was set from 15 to 20 years. All participants were given participation certificates and top three winners bagged special award certificates. The competition was conducted fully in online mode. Dr. Anjali Thapliyal Kaul (President Pyare foundation) ,Mrs. Shweta Kaul (Software engineer, Producer, radio and voice over/ dubbing artist), Mr. Rajesh Kaul (Author & secretary Pyare foundation) served as the judges for the competition.

Singing is an art, the way of coordinating the pitch and frequency of one's voice with the musical beats. Singing serves as instrument to carry the culture and traditions from one generation to another. There are several well-known epics which have been sung and passed on orally blended with music and flowery lyrics. The promoter of culture and society,

CORONA WARRIORS CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION

13th, 15th & 18th June, 2020

The covid 19 pandemic has truly made us realize that “health is wealth, and the protectors of health are no less than God to us”. The frontline warriors are no doubt the most vulnerable to get the infection, but still, they stand for us, they serve for us, without thinking even once about their near and dear ones and even about themselves. Dr. Anjali also stood as a corona warrior, discharging it as her duty towards the society. Dr. Anjali Thapliyal Kaul continuously involved herself in helping people of the different sections of the society amidst the widespread of the corona virus pandemic. She was rewarded with the certificate of appreciation as a corona warrior by All India Mantavya Foundation on 13th June, Rashtriya Mahila Samman Morcha on 15th June and Sarthak Pehal Samiti, Uttarakhand on 18th June for her extraordinary hard work and dedication in helping the society during the covid 19 pandemic.

Medical science has defined the well-being of person not only in terms of physical health but also in terms of mental health. The urban population is slightly aware about these issues but the rural population has still some pre-notions attached to the word “mental” which definitely needs to be changed. The mental well -being of a person not only enhances one’s performance in job or academics but also contributes to the overall happiness of the individual. Considering the fact that Mental illnesses affects 19% of the adult population, 46% of teenagers, and 13% of children each year, Pyare foundation initiated to help people suffering from depression and other mental health related issues. The foundation formed a panel of well qualified doctors to address and solve mental health related issues of the people. The program provides free consultation and advice from doctors with expertise in the field of mental health through a phone or a video call.

TELEMEDICINE PROGRAM

24th July - 24th September, 2020

The program commenced on 24th July 2020 and successfully continued till September 2020. The aim of the program was to introduce ways and means to attain good health, positive attitude, family welfare and life betterment. The program was equally sensitive towards the outbreak of the corona virus pandemic and the panic that emerged inside the country due to the rapidly increasing cases and deaths. The telemedicine program offered counselling and advice to people facing distress and disenchantment through professional doctors with an expertise in their respective fields. The health experts associated within the initiative provided help and guidance to people seeking help to overcome ailments, infirmities, diseases, phobias, fear and weaknesses. A multi-dimensional approach of wellness was being employed which focused on physical, emotional, spiritual, intellectual, environmental and social well-being of a person. This initiative would have been impossible without the valuable contribution of the professional team of the doctors. The telemedicine program consisted of Dr. Sushil Kumar Arora (B.A.M.S.), Dr. Sonal

Rohtagi (Obs/Gynecologist, MBBS and MD), Dr. Tanushree Gahlot (MBBS), Dr. Sneh Pratap Singh (Homeopathic physician, D.H.M.S, Dip NIH Kolkata), Dr. Rajnish Bhardwaj (B.H.M.S), Dr. Vedprakash Maurya and Mrs. Sushma Thapliyal (clinical psychologists), Dr. Meenakshi Arjun (Naturopathy DNYS) and Dr. Sudhir Bagga (MD, MBBS). The range of doctors which were a part of the initiative enabled Pyare Foundation to aid a diverse group of people. People were given medical advice and guidance directly from the panel of well-experienced doctors via video conferencing, phone call or messaging. The program also employed interns for a better coordination and for working on health blogs to produce content concerning and addressing health issues.
